A hand-drawn map showing a geographical area. The map is oriented with North (N.) at the top. A large, irregularly shaped area is labeled "Corland". To the left of "Corland" is a smaller, elongated area labeled "Morgan". To the right of "Corland" is another area labeled "Phillips". The map is drawn with simple black lines on a white background. The labels "Morgan", "Corland", and "Phillips" are written in a cursive script. The cardinal directions "W." (West) and "E." (East) are indicated on the left and right sides of the map, respectively. The letter "N." is at the top. There are some additional markings, including a small "X" and some numbers, but they are not clearly legible.
